Unpacking Privilege
Presented by Adan Sanchez

Our identities provide us with social positions ranging from privilege to marginalization. In this workshop, participants will explore their various identities and the types of privilege that may come along with those identities, the interactions between privilege and marginalization, and how we can engage these issues constructively.

Thursday, April 23
12:15-1:30 pm
MRH 131

Diversity and Leadership
Presented by Grace Bagunu

Diversity can mean different things to different people in a multitude of environments. Students will learn the importance of diversity in their ability to exercise leadership in heterogeneous groups and in a variety of contexts by getting below the surface.

Tuesday, April 28
12:30-1:30 pm
MRH 131

Global Leadership and Study Abroad
Facilitated Panel by Tara Edberg

A group of Leadership Studies Minor students will talk about their experiences studying abroad, how to make an intentional choice about the program location, and how to learn about global leadership while you are abroad.

Thursday, March 5
12:30-1:30 pm
MRH 131

The Power of the Empathetic Leader
Presented by Lucia Ibarra

This workshop will foster the developing of an open mind that welcomes diversity and innovation. Participants will gain self-awareness and social-awareness, which can lead to collaboration, better engagement, the development of stronger bonds, and trust.

Monday, March 16
12:15-1:15 pm
MRH 135

Aesthetic Activism
Presented by Esteban del Rio

What does it mean to persuade people to participate in large-scale social change by delighting them into action? This workshop examines the aesthetic dimensions of networked activism to understand how agents can motivate change. We will discuss the concept of the “public sphere” and how our highly visual culture insists we approach democratic deliberation through the lens of the “public screen.”

Tuesday, February 24
12:15-1:15 pm
MRH 135